[XVIII*th* Year.] THURSDAY, January 6, 1763. [N°. 922.]

The following Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman of Credit now in LONDON, to his Friend in BOSTON, containing the Substance of Mr. P-tt's SPEECH in Parliament, in Answer to Lord G---ge S--kv--lle, and Others who Spoke before him, relating to the supplying his Majesty with an additional Sum for carrying on the War in Germany, and Assisting the King of Portugal, we imagine will need no Apology to our Readers for having a Place in this Paper.

LONDON, Tuesday, May 12. 1762.

SIR,

THROUGH the Introduction of a worthy Gentleman, a Member of Parliament, I gain'd Admission in the House of Commons, to hear the Debates which were to come on that Day; and was furnish'd with a very convenient Seat, fronting our late worthy Patriot Minister, the Right Honorable WILLIAM PITT, Esq; The Substance of which Debates I will endeavour to give you as well as my Memory will allow, together with the Assistance of a good Friend who was also there, and has help'd me with what I could not recollect.

After a few Votes passed touching some Private Bills, a Message was read from his Majesty, desiring the House to supply him with One Million, towards defraying the Exigencies of State during the Recess of Parliament, and to enable him to assist Portugal.

Upon which Lord B-rr--g--n, Chancellor of the Exchequer, open'd the Debate: He was for Assisting the King of Portugal, but at the same Time mentioned the vast Expence the Nation had been at, and would not allow of any additional Burthen, unless an End be put to the War in Germany.

Mr. W-lks rose up next, but spoke so Low, that much of his Discourse was lost, tho' enough was understood to shew his Aim was chiefly to expose the Present Ministry.

Alderman B--kf--d succeeded him on the same Design, and in the most bitter Manner treated the Ministry with the greatest Contempt; saying, he hardly knew what to make of them; that they were an odd Medley, made up partly of the old and partly of the new Ministry; told 'em, they imagin'd no Body knew any thing but themselves, and that they had done Nothing for many Years but purchase Boroughs to send Members to Parliament; insinuated that what had been done was by Mr. P-tt, for that nothing had been done since his Resignation; accus'd them of Irregularity in their Plans, and Irresolution and Timidity in the Execution of them. He spoke like an honest Man, without Fear or Dread of any one, but nothing of that Flourish and Oratory which we found in some that spoke after him.

Mr. Gl-v-r, a Merchant of London, spoke next; he endeavoured to represent the King of Portugal as having violated his Engagements relative to the English Merchants, especially in the Wine Trade, there having been Complaints transmitted from said Merchants, but he had Reason to think those Complaints had not been attended to by the late Ministry; arguing from this Breach of Treaty, that the King of Portugal had no Right to expect any Assistance from England.

Mr. L-gge then stood up, and said very little, but that Little was to the same Purpose; tho' he took some Pains to persuade us of the Necessity of making Peace; that the War should be contracted; and that the Difficulty of raising new Supplies would be, if not quite, almost Insurmountable.

Mr. G---v-lle spoke next, and endeavoured to enforce what Mr. L-gge had said; that the Expences the Nation had been put to, were so heavy, that they would not be able to raise the next Year's Supplies, should the War be continued; he denied what Mr. B--kf--d had said of the Ministry having been Idle, or done little or nothing for many Years past; and as a Proof to the contrary, mentioned the many Acquisitions we had made this War; which in fact was only confirming what was said in favor of Mr. Pitt by B--kf--d.

Lord G----e S--kv--lle (who, tho' not the best of Men, is to be reckon'd among the best of Speakers) stood up next, and try'd with all the Sophistry of the ablest Head, to shew the Difference in the Expence of Queen Anne's War, and the Present; that tho' in the former we had near 180,000 Troops employed on the Continent, and in the present not above one Half that Number, yet the Expence Now was much greater than at that Time, which he said must be owing to want of Œconomy in the Managers of the German War, and insinuated something which might be construed to the Prejudice of Mr. P-tt: He told the House he was of the Opinion with Mr. L-gge, the Honourable Gentleman who spoke last, that the Expence the Nation had been at was so great, 'twas impossible to raise any further Supplies, and that he fear'd he should see the Time when we should come to a full Stop for want of Money to carry on the War, and that he Bled to see his Country in such distress'd Circumstances; and concluded with saying, he hoped we should not see the Time, when we, as a Conquering Nation, should be oblig'd to ask a Peace of those who ought to beg it of us.

Mr. P-tt, our late worthy Minister, next rose from his Seat, and like an Angel diffused a Light throughout the whole Assembly; he spoke for 73 Minutes, which when over, seemed like a Moment of Transport: He made a most glorious Speech; I was charmed with the noble Sentiments, the Honesty of Heart, the tender Regard for his King and Country, which breathed forth in every Word he said; such inchanting Music I never heard before; I forgot all my past Misfortunes, and did not anticipate those to come; while he was speaking I was compleatly happy, if there be such on Earth: He convinced every One, who was not more than an Infidel, 'twas absolutely necessary to continue the German War, and assist the King of Portugal; that it was his Opinion there was no supporting a War without a continental Connection, that it had ever been found Political, except in the four unhappy Reigns of the Stuarts, (this Exception was thought not a little severe on my Lord B-te, who is of that Family) and in a very jocular Way turned to different Parts of the House, and said, You that are for continental Measures, I am with You; and you that are for assisting the King of Portugal, I am with You; and you that are for putting an End to the War, I am with You also; in short I am the only Man to be found, that am with you all; (which occasioned a general Laugh throughout the House.) He then pointed out the Successes which had attended the British Arms in all Parts of the World, and the immense Advantages gained in our Trade, which would more than compensate for the large Expences we had been at, and was a Consideration (as he observed) passed over unnoticed by those who were complaining of the heavy Burthen of the War; and in regard to what Mr. L-gge and Mr. G---v--lle said, upon Contracting the Expences, he entirely agreed with them, and said, whoever should Effect this salutary Work would deserve the highest Encomiums; but that he hoped a Distinction would be made between contracting the Expence and contracting the Operations of the War, and desired any one present to shew how the latter could have been, or might still be done with Safety: He then told us he did not find any less Expence attended the Nation now, then when he unworthily held the Seals, or that more was done; and turning to the Marquis of Granby, did him that Justice which was his due, by telling him, he knew his Zeal for the Good of his Country was such, that if he had received his Orders, he was sure he would not then be where he was; and as to what that noble Lord G----e S--kv--lle said, no one doubted his Capacity, if his Heart was but as good; that for his Part he could not tell the Reason of the continental Expences being more now, than in Queen Anne's Time, unless it was because Provender, and every Thing else in Germany, was Dearer now than then, and wish'd the noble Lord had Explained Part of his Speech, for that he did not properly know what to make of it; it carried a Something! a Suspicion which he did not well understand! but if he meant that there had not been fair Play with the Money, he knew nothing of it, and then (stretching out his Hands, and moving his Fingers) told us, they were clean! there was none of it stuck to them! and that he would second any Member of the House, who should move for an Enquiry into the Money Matters, he wanted to know how it was appropriated, that the whole Truth might come out: He observed the noble Lord had told the House, that he Bled for his Country, and he did not wonder at it; that, it was his Opinion, he ought to throw his Body at his Majesty's Feet, and there Bleed at every Pore.—He then represented, that in Consequence of withdrawing our Troops from Germany, Portugal and the Low-Countries would become a Prey to the French and Spaniards, that in point of Policy, we were obliged still to maintain them, but that he did not mean to bear Portugal on our Shoulders, but only to set him on his Legs, and put a Sword in his Hand; that the French were almost a ruined Nation, having expended in the last Year Eight Millions, and been on the losing Hand; that he knew the Finances of France, and what they were able to do, as well, if not better, than any Man in England, let his Abilities be what they would, and that we by our Successes were repaid for our Expence; that it was wrong and unjust, to represent Great-Britain in so deplorable a State, as unable to carry on the War (for that there were always Strangers in the Gallery, who wrote their Friends in Holland what passed in the House, and the Dutch forwarded it to the French, and it was by this means, Affairs mentioned in Parliament, came out in the French and lying Brussels Gazette) whereas, it was well known, England never was better able to support a War than at present; that the Money for this Year (the last was paid this Day) was raised, and he would answer for it, if we wanted 15 or 20 Millions for next Year, we might have it, and recommended their Granting a Million and an Half, instead of the Million his Majesty desired; that he knew the Cry in Parliament for three Years last past, was, you won't be able to raise Money to continue the War another Year; and yet now they all saw the contrary; that one Campaign might have finished the War; [alluding I suppose to his Proposal for demanding a categorical Answer of Spain, by a Fleet of Ships, and attacking Cadiz) and that he hoped one Campaign might ſtill do it; and in Anſwer to Mr. Gl-v-r, touching the Complaints of the Portugal Merchants not being attended to, he ſaid, ſo far from being unattended to, he had ſpent many Nights on them, and referred that Gentleman to what paſſed between him and the Ambaſſador of the Court of Portugal, wherein that Point had been adjuſted to the Satisfaction of all Perſons. He then recommended Union and Harmony to the Miniſtry, hoped there was no ſuch Things now ſubſiſting as Whigs and Tories, declaimed againſt Altercation, which he obſerved was no Way to carry on the Public Affairs, and urged the Proſecution of the War with Vigour, as the only Way to obtain an honourable, ſolid, and laſting Peace, and proved, from the Readineſs with which Supplies had been Granted, that there would be little Danger of a Stop on that Account, ſo long as the Money was properly applied, and attended with Succeſs, which latter indeed no Man could anſwer for; nor was it expected that any ſhould be accountable, farther than the Meaſures purſued were looked upon as beſt to obtain the End propoſed; and that thoſe who judged only by the Event, were ſuch whoſe Judgment he would never rely on.

All of which, to the beſt of my Remembrance, is the Subſtance, which was ſpoken with a Dignity becoming Mr. P-tt, a Coolneſs and Firmneſs peculiar to himſelf, a Goodneſs which none of them could come up to, and was attended to with ſo much Silence, that had a Mouſe croſſed the Floor he muſt have been heard; there was an inexpreſſible Satisfaction in the Looks of all preſent, except thoſe who oppoſed him; which ſufficiently ſhews the Deference paid him, and the Superiority his Character and Abilities gave him in that venerable Aſſembly.

In conſequence of this Debate, the Money applied for, was Granted, by a very large Majority of Votes.

PARIS, October 1.

AN Embarkation is ſtrongly talked of. All the young Fellows that are in Goal for Offences not capital, are to be ſent to Breſt, to be embarked. This bears not the Mark of Peace.

The Governor of one of our Settlements, who defended it badly, either through Ignorance or Knavery, hath been degraded from the Rank of Nobleſſe; all his Eſtate and Effects are confiſcated, and he is to be confined for Life, in the Iſland of St. Margaret, near Antibes.

They write from Bourdeaux, that an Officer, who was arreſted at Rochefort, on his Return from St. Domingo, and carried Priſoner to Caſtle Trompette, is put on board, to undergo his Puniſhment where his Offence was committed.

Milan, Oct. 18. The Religious Houſes in this State are carrying the Plate to the Mint, to raiſe the Money demanded from them by the Empreſs Queen.

Copenhagen, Sept. 25. Our Eaſt-India Company have learnt, with much Surpriſe, by the Ship the Prince Charles, lately arrived from Bengal, that no European Nation is permitted to trade with the Natives of that Country. The Engliſh have made themſelves abſolute Maſters of the Trade, and oblige all other Europeans to buy from them only, or return without a Lading.

LONDON.

Oct. 2. When the Duke of Bedford landed at Calais, M. Becquet de Cocove, Preſident of the Court of Juſtice at that Place, attended by all the King's Officers, waited on his Grace at the Inn, and complimented him in the following Terms.

MY LORD,

"It would betray in us a Diſregard to the Welfare of Mankind in general, and to that of the two Crowns of France and England in particular, ſhould we omit this Opportunity of teſtifying our Joy for the important Commiſſion entruſted to your Grace, to put the finiſhing Hand to the great Work of Peace. Who could have been nominated more capable than your Grace, to reconcile ſo many different Intereſts, and remove ſo many Difficulties? Yes, my Lord Duke, your Wiſdom will ſurmount all Difficulties; the two Nations of Rivals you will make Friends, by inſpiring them with the Spirit of Union and Concord. They have in all Ages, mutually eſteemed each other; it was, perhaps, reſerved for your Grace to change this Eſteem into a happy Sympathy. May we ſoon ſee you repaſs, my Lord, with the Olive Branch in your Hand, going to reap the happy Fruits of your wiſe Mediation, after gaining the Eſteem of our Maſter, and meriting the Favour of your own Sovereign. Theſe are the Wiſhes of the King's Officers of Juſtice at Calais, who beg Leave to aſſure your Grace of their moſt profound Reſpect."

Extract of a Letter from Liſbon, Sept. 18.

"Almeida might have been defended three Weeks longer, having Proviſion for that Time, and Plenty of Ammunition. There were about 70 Men wounded during the Siege, moſt of whom died for want of Surgeons to attend them. It ſeems the Engliſh and German Officers proteſted againſt Capitulating, but to no Purpoſe. The Place was given up, and the Spaniards have a fine ſtrong Fortification for Magazines, and an open Road into the Kingdom, though attended with many difficult Paſſes, and they can march to any Place except this City, which will be difficult for them to come at; but Porto, Coimbra, Viſeu, &c. run a Riſque of falling into their Hands.

"Since the Spaniards have taken Almeida, they are marching towards Coimbra and Porto, but our Troops are deſtroying the Roads, and putting the difficult Paſſes into a State of Defence, ſo as to prevent their coming forward."

October 5. Commodore Man is cruizing off Breſt with ſix Ships of the Line, and Commodore Dennis has ten capital Ships at Baſque Road.

Yeſterday three magnificent Coaches, brought over from Paris, for the French Ambaſſador, arrived here.

As England allows to the Ships of her Friends the Dutch the Liberty of covering the Goods of her Enemies the Spaniards, Spain likewiſe hath granted to the Dutch this Privilege.

October 8. Laſt Thurſday his Royal Highneſs the Duke of York ſailed from St. Helens, in his Majeſty's Ship Princeſs Amelia, with the Magnanime, Eſſex, and Pearl Frigate, in Queſt of 5 French Ships that are ſailed from Cape-Françoiſ. The Hon. Capt. Harvey gave the Duke the Intelligence, on which his Royal Highneſs ſaid he would ſail immediately. We hope to give a good Account of them ſoon.

They write from Cork, that they had received an Account by his Majeſty's Ship Blaſt, Captain Hay, arrived at Kinſale from Belleiſle, that a Conſpiracy was formed to betray that Iſland to the French the 12th ult. but was found out the Day before; a Prieſt, ſome of the French Inhabitants, and about 20 Engliſh Soldiers, were the Principals; which was diſcovered by one of the latter. Their Plan was to ſpike down a Battery of 12 Guns, that defends a Bay a little to the Eaſt of the Citadel, a good Landing-Place, where a large Body of French Troops, ready on the Main to ſail as ſoon as the Signal agreed on was given, were to diſembark. When the Ship ſailed from Belleiſle the Trials of thoſe Traitors were begun. Since this Diſcovery, the Governor had ordered that none of the Boats ſhould fiſh.

The Loſs of ſo many Britiſh Officers in Germany, on the 21ſt paſt, is greatly to be regretted, eſpecially as ſo much Blood was ſhed on ſo trifling an Affair.——How different are the Fortunes of Men under the Diſpenſations of Providence; we ſee one eſcape through a thouſand military Perils, enriched by his Valour, honoured by his King, and beloved by his Country; yet his Brother periſhes in his firſt Attempt againſt the Enemy.

A Serjeant in the Allied Army, in a Letter to his Friend in London, dated the 24th paſt, ſays, that in the late Engagement, the French, according to their uſual treacherous Cuſtom, fired combuſtible Matter at our Troops, to ſet Fire to their Cloaths, which had its deſired Effect on many.

The laſt Letters from Peterſburgh ſay, that all the foreign Miniſters there, who had received freſh Credentials ſince the Revolution, had been admitted to an Audience of the Empreſs, the French Miniſter alone excepted.

The following is ſaid to be an authentic Anecdote, relating to the Death of the late unhappy Emperor Peter III.—When the late Emperor of Ruſſia ſurrendered himſelf to his Wife, who came, Amazon-like, at the Head of 10,000 Men to demand his Reſignation, he was immediately confined, and all Viſitors denied Admittance to his Perſon.

When he found there was no Hopes left for his Liberty, he requeſted two Things to be allowed him; one was, that he might have the Pruſſian Uniform, the other, that a very Favourite Servant, a Negro, whoſe Name was Utowitz, might attend him. The humane Emperor adding, that he was certain the poor Fellow would pine himſelf to Death, if he was to be ſeparated from his Maſter.

In two or three Days, after this Negro had been properly inſtructed, he was ſent to wait upon his Maſter, and one of his firſt Acts of Duty was, to give Peter the Third a Melon, which was properly prepared, according to the (as we may ſuppoſe) proper political Scheme.

The Doſe was violent, the Diſpatch extraordinary quick, and the Body immediately opened.

The Entrails were taken out, that nothing might appear to the Eyes of the World, nevertheleſs his Face appeared very red; and this was the Reaſon, it is ſaid, that the Empreſs was not ſuffered to ſee him.

It is ſaid that this black Fellow now keeps an Equipage, lives high, and has many Acquaintance of the better Sort.

October 9. An Officer who was in the Action near Amonebourg, in his Letter, dated the 25th of September, ſays, "We now lie on the Ground in Camp oppoſite the Paſs, and the French on the other Side the River. We have made very ſtrong Batteries, and they have done the ſame. GOD knows what will be the End of it, but no conſiderable Advantage has been gained on either Side, though there has been ſo great an Effuſion of Blood. We lay in the Battery with the Dead all Night."

Some Letters from Paris, by the Way of Holland, ſpeak of a Peace (which a Week or two ago was looked upon as good as concluded) as meeting with ſo many Obſtacles, that they were not now able to gueſs when the Preliminaries would be ſigned.

The Dutch Politicians differ greatly in their Conjectures about the Negociation on Foot between France and England. Some of them look upon the Whole as a meer Farce of the French and Spaniards, in order to gain Time, and wonder the Duke of Bedford is not already returned.

By our freſheſt Advices from Portugal, the Spaniards are bringing all their Forces into the Field, in order to make a grand Puſh againſt the Engliſh and Portugueſe, on which Account they have drawn all their Troops out of Chaves, as alſo the Garriſon of 6000 Men out of Almeida.

By the moſt exact Eſtimation that could be made, when the laſt Letters were diſpatched from the Havannah, the Money and Effects at that Place, belonging to the King of Spain, will amount to four Millions Sterling. It is rumoured that his Majeſty hath very graciouſly given up his Share to the Captors; and that Part of it will be appropriated for the Benefit of the Widows, Children, or Heirs of the brave Men who fell in this glorious Expedition; for whom, by our preſent defective Regulations, no Proviſion is made; but while the Captain of the Stirling-Caſtle ſhares equally with Capt. Hervey of the Dragon, the ſorrowful Widow of the gallant Capt. Gooſtree receives not ſo much as Mourning for her deceaſed Huſband; and the only favour ſhewn to the Widows of thoſe Men who loſt their Lives in mounting the Breach at Moro Caſtle, is the Grant of a Paſſport to prevent their being whipt as Vagrants, if found out of their proper Pariſhes.

Oct. 12. Letters from Croſſen of the 30th ult. adviſe, that the Governor of Schweidnitz continued then to make a brave Defence. That on the 27th and 28th ult. there was a moſt terrible Firing on both ſides, from their Cannon, Mortars and Small Arms, which laſted each Day from Morning till Night without Intermiſſion.

Many Perſons of ſome Rank think we ſhall have another Year's War, unleſs the Spaniards and French approve of our Conditions.

Extract of a Letter from Liſbon, dated the 18*th ult.*

"Laſt Week came down Priſoner Count de Lippe's Linguiſt, a Portugueſe, for carrying on a Correſpondence with the Spaniards, and informing them of every Proceeding of our Army, and deceiving the Count in reading Letters that he received from the Portugueſe Governors, Officers, &c. By which the Count, and a Number of Troops, had near fallen into an Ambuſcade, and been cut off.

The News of a Battle in Portugal is every Day expected. On this Action will depend whether there is to be a Peace or War, as in all Probability it will prove nearly deciſive in its Conſequences.

By a Gentleman that arrived within this Day or two from Spain, we are informed, that the Spaniards expreſſed great Uneaſineſs at being drawn into a War on Account of France; that they expreſſed great Uneaſineſs at our Expedition againſt the Havannah; and he verily believes, that when they come to be informed of the Loſs of that Important Place, they will not ſuffer a Frenchman to be in Spain.

NEW-YORK, December 20.

By his Excellency George, Earl of Albemarle, Viscount Bury, Baron of Ashford, one of his Majesty's Most Honourable Privy Council, Governor of the Island of Jersey, Colonel of the King's own Regiment of Dragoons, Commander in Chief of his Majesty's Forces; Captain General and Governor of the Island of Cuba.

IT being ſtipulated by the 7th Article of Capitulation, that no Promotions ſhould be made in the Church without the Approbation and Conſent of the Goverpor, his Excellency the Earl of Albemarle, having on ſeveral Occaſions demanded of the Biſhop a Liſt of the Eccleſiaſticks in his Dioceſe, in order that his Excellency might be able to Judge of the Merits of ſuch Perſons as ſhould be recommended for Preferment.

And whereas the Biſhop, in a very diſreſpectful Manner, having always denied complying with his Excellency's Demand, and in a Letter of the 2d of this Month, not only abſolutely refuſed to ſend the Liſt demanded, but threatened, in a very unlawful and imperious Manner, that he would complain to the Courts of Great-Britain and Spain of the irregular Demand, as a Breach of the Capitulation; and made Mention in ſaid Letter of the reſpective Courts and Sovereigns in a very ſeditious Manner, forgetting not only his being Subject to Great-Britain, and conſidering himſelf a Subject of his Catholic Majeſty, notwithſtanding the Capitulation.

Wherefore his Excellency the Earl of Albemarle thinks it abſolutely neceſſary to move the Biſhop from this Iſland, and ſend him to Florida, in one of his Majeſty's Ships of War, in order that the Tranquility of this City may be preſerved, and that Harmony and good Underſtanding may be preſerved between his Majeſty's Old and New Subjects, which the Biſhop, in ſuch a flagrant Manner, has endeavoured to interrupt.

His Excellency, with great Regret, finds himſelf obliged to make Uſe of his Authority, and the Power with which he is inveſted, not only by the Conqueſt, but alſo by the 11th Article of the Capitulation. But notwithſtanding ſuch irregular Proceedings of the Biſhop, his Excellency is determined to continue to protect the Church, and preſerve its Members in all their Rights and Privileges, as ſtipulated by the Articles of Capitulation, altho' thoſe have not been ſtrictly complied with on the Part of ſome of the Magiſtrates within the Diſtrict and Juriſdiction of the City of the Havannah.

Signed, ALBEMARLE.

SCHEME of a LOTTERY, for Raiſing ONE HUNDRED and FIFTY POUNDS, to be applied towards Building a WHARF at Bohemia Ferry, in Cæcil County, Maryland.

As this Undertaking is intended, in a very particular Manner, for the Public Good, no other Recommendation is thought requiſite in it's Favour. The great Advantages accruing from it, to Numbers of the Trading Gentlemen reſiding in the Lower Counties of this Province, and a conſiderable Part of the Colony of Virginia, is beyond Doubt Excitement ſufficient for their unanimous Encouragement of a much more extenſive, though (perhaps in the Iſſue) not more laudable Undertaking. The Situation of the Place muſt undoubtedly Claim the Preference of any other at the Head of the Bay, it being much the neareſt navigable Landing, from whence a conſtant uninterrupted Communication with Philadelphia may, with the greateſt Eaſe, Safety, and Expedition, be maintained. A commodious Road for Cartage, not exceeding 13 or 14 Miles, is already laid out from the Ferry on Bohemia River to Ready-Iſland. A convenient Waggon for Paſſengers, or Goods, (and more than One upon any Emergency) will conſtantly attend once a Week at the Ferry, when the Scheme ſhall be compleated.

A convenient Wharf and Warehouſe is already built by Capt. Jacob Gooding at his Landing, at Ready-Iſland, who intends keeping in conſtant Attendance a proper Veſſel, once a Week (or oftener if Neceſſary) to go from thence to Philadelphia.

As ſmall Undertakings may in Time, if properly encouraged, become of great and public Utility, this Scheme is therefore humbly recommended to the impartial Conſideration of the Public, the Managers truſting it will meet with Succeſs adequate to it's Intention.

The SCHEME is as follows:

Number of Prizes.	Value of each.	Total Value.
1 of	£. 50 is	50
1 of	30 is	30
2 of	20 are	40

The Drawing will begin at Bohemia Ferry, the Firſt of March next, or ſooner, if ſooner full, of which timely Notice will be given, and the Fortunate Numbers to be publiſh'd in the Maryland GAZETTE.

Prize Money not demanded in Four Months after the Publication of them, will be deem'd as generouſly given to the Purpoſe of the Lottery.

The following Gentlemen are appointed Managers, viz. Col. Peter Bayard, Captains John Veazy and Jonathan Hodgſon of Cæcil County, Capt. John Fendall of Charles County, Jacob Gooding of New-Caſtle, and James Aſhton Bayard of Cæcil County.

N. B. A commodious Warehouſe will be Erected at Bohemia Ferry, for the Reception and Safety of Goods, when the Lottery is compleated.

STRAY'D away about three Months ago from the Subſcriber, living in Frederick County, near Mr. William Hall's Quarter, a dark Iron-grey Mare, and a red Roan Horſe Colt. She is about 16 Hands high, poor in Fleſh, and Three Years old laſt Spring, her Forehead darker than any other part, branded on the near Shoulder I S. She had on her a large good Bell fix'd on with a Rope twice round her Neck, and has a ſhort Switch Tail. The Colt has four black Hoofs.

Whoever brings the ſaid Mare and Colt home, ſhall have a Reward of Forty Shillings, paid them by GEORGE BURCKHARTT.

THERE is at the Plantation of Alexander Duvall, living on Patowmack River, near the Mouth of Manockaſy, in Frederick County, taken up as a Stray, a middle-ſiz'd Bay Horſe, branded on the near Shoulder with a G or a C, has a Snip on his Noſe, ſome grey Hairs in his Tail, and Saddle Spots on both Sides of his Back.

The Owner may have him again, on proving his Property, and paying Charges.
